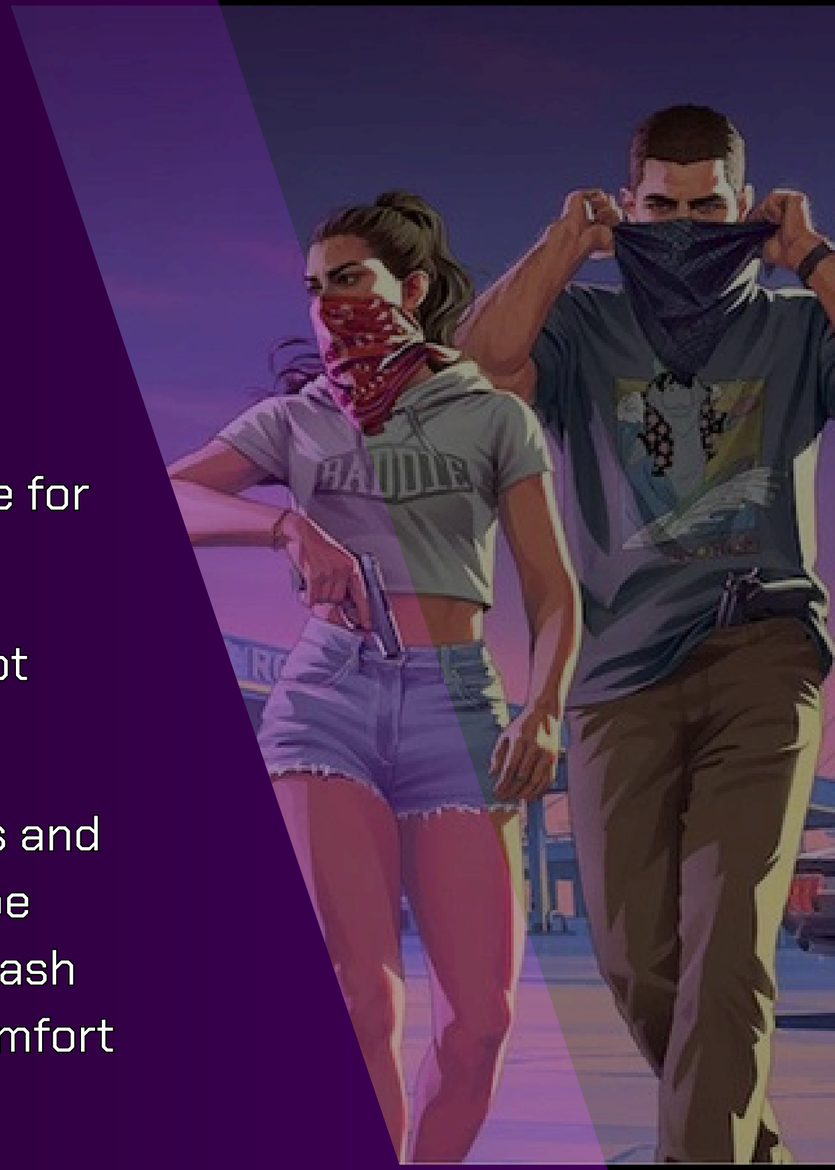
Welcome to Grand Cash Auto

In just a few weeks, we'll have completed the Story Mode with Jason and Lucia. After that, it's time to wait for GTA VI Online to drop.

With Grand Cash Auto, we want to use this time to build something unique for the community.

We all love GTA, competition, and of course, making quick cash. So why not bring it all together?

In this lightpaper, you'll find out how we plan to bring unique tournaments and challenges to players around the world, all with real cash prizes. There'll be something for everyone, from free tournaments where you can win real cash to regular events with entry fees. All completely anonymous, from the comfort of your own home, and without sharing any personal information.



How Does Grand Cash Auto Work? (1 / 3)

What we want to build with Grand Cash Auto is something truly unique that has never been done quite like this before. Our concept is built around a large community and a team that organizes, runs and oversees the tournaments.

Many of you are probably familiar with the ability to create your own deathmatches, races or missions in GTA 5 Online. In Online Mode, you can create your own game modes and play together with friends or other players. That's exactly what our concept is built on.

In custom-made games, the map, game rules and duration can all be set individually. For example, in a custom online Deathmatch, up to 30 players can compete against each other. Whoever gets the most kills by the end wins.

Single Games and Online Sessions

A maximum of 30 players can participate in an online session at the same time. This means 29 participants and one tournament helper or Grand Cash Auto team member who starts the session, creates the game, runs it and acts as a referee, overseeing the entire process.

Once the game time is up, we receive the results, including statistics and a leaderboard. This allows us to clearly determine the rankings and identify the winners.

These sessions can either take place as standalone Single Games, where the winners are decided after just one game, or be organized as part of a larger tournament consisting of multiple rounds.

Knockout Tournaments

For larger tournaments, however, we use a knockout system. Let's take a tournament with 2,900 players as an example.

To start with, 100 online sessions are organized, each with 29 participants and one referee. The top 5 players from each session advance to the next round.

This process is repeated until the prize-winning places are reached and, finally, the grand final takes place.

I think this should make the basic concept clear. Of course, we can only finalize the rules and procedures once GTA VI Online has launched and we know all the technical possibilities.

Where Does the Money Come From?

Our free tournaments are funded through various sources of income. Besides marketing and sponsorships, we also want to generate revenue in the future through livestreams of our tournaments and social media.

Paid tournaments and Single Games will also generate revenue. A small percentage of the entry fees will be kept as a participation fee. This will help us cover running costs, pay our helpers and at the same time make even more free tournaments and events possible.

The goal is simple: revenue from different sources should allow us to offer as many tournaments with real cash prizes as possible, where everyone can participate for free and have a chance to win something.

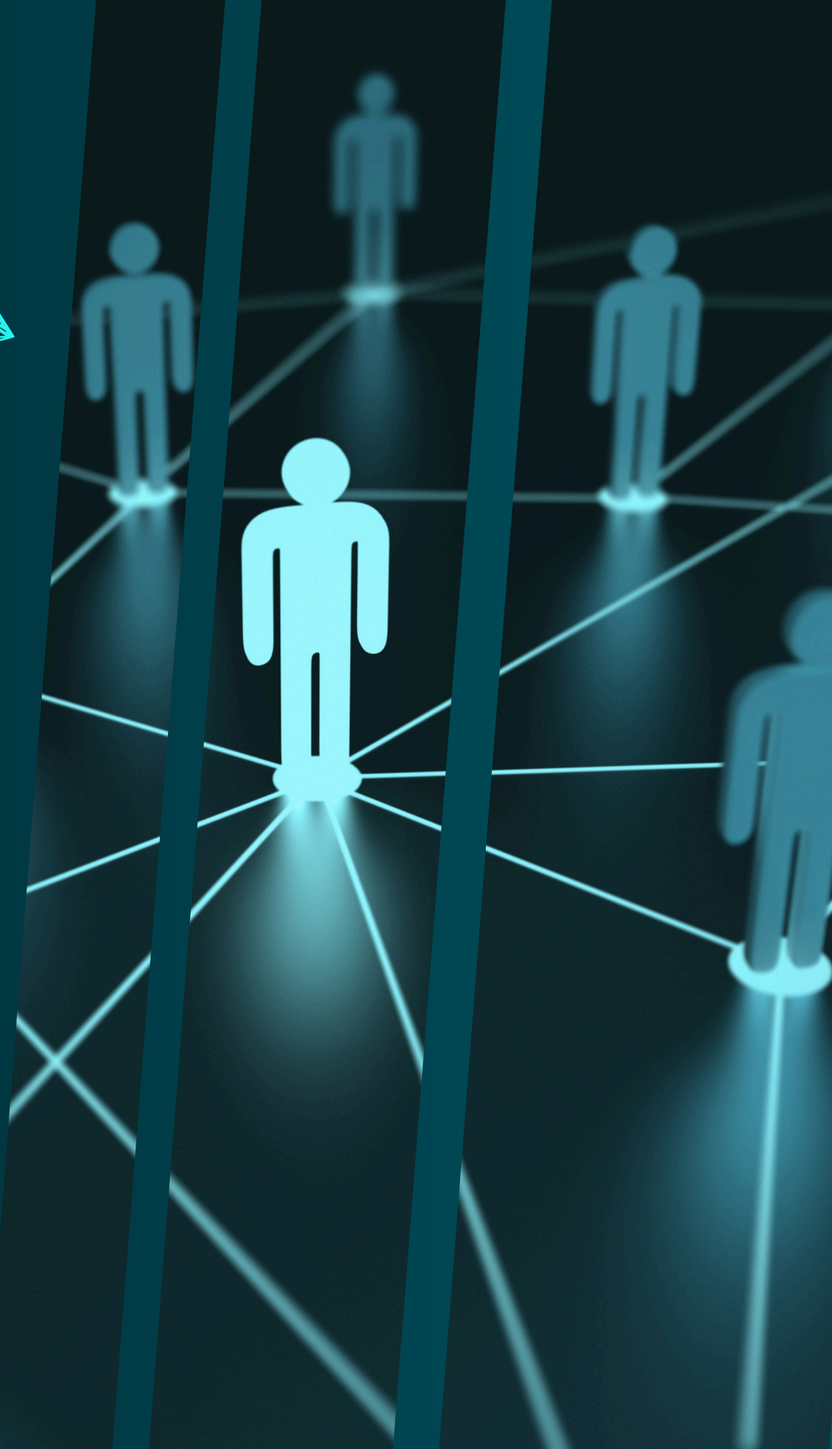
Anonymity & Prize Payouts (1 / 2)

As mentioned before, everything at Grand Cash Auto is anonymous and community-driven. But that doesn't mean prize money gets dropped out of a helicopter somewhere after you win. We also use modern and transparent solutions for payouts, taking advantage of blockchain technology.

Both winnings from free tournaments and entry fees for games with buy-ins are handled through Bitcoin or our own community currency, the GCA6 Coin.

This system allows for secure, transparent and discreet transactions without the need for personal information such as ID documents, addresses or bank details. At the same time, it gives people from all over the world the opportunity to join our project easily, regardless of where they live.



Anonymity & Prize Payouts (2 / 2)

Every player can exchange their winnings independently through various exchanges into a currency of their choice, or their local currency.

On top of that, our community currency GCA6 gives you the opportunity to be part of the success and growth of the entire project. You can find more details on our website.

For most players, this only really becomes important once they've actually won something. Until then, at Grand Cash Auto, it's all about three things: fun, competition and community.
